Southern Pine Council on Blue Stain

The Southern Pine Council has just released a new Q&A brochure that provides key information about blue-stained Southern Pine lumber. Readers learn that over the next few months, lumber cut from wind-felled, reclaimed Southern Pine timber may contain a natural discoloration known as blue stain. The publication explains that blue stain is not mold, does not pose any health risks, and does not affect lumber strength. Complemented with full-color photos, the brochure is now available in hardcopy or online at www.southernpine.com/blued.shtml. To order a hardcopy, send an e-mail to info@southernpine.com and request publication #275.

Tolleson Lumber Company is pleased to announce the addition of two new members to the mill sales team:

Kari Ann Stubbs

is a nine year veteran with Tolleson. She has experience with Tolleson in several areas. Her latest position was in sales with our Distribution and Reman Division. Kari Ann enjoys the outdoor life and eagerly looks forward to hunting, fishing, and golfing with our customers.

Larry Mosteller

also joins the sales team from the Distribution Division. Larry grew up in Perry only 2 blocks from the mill. After 30 years in the insurance industry, he came home to Perry. Larry's interests include hunting, fishing, and golf, although he admits to being poor to mediocre in all three. Larry is excited about the opportunity to serve our customers.

We are excited about the addition of these two experienced sales people to our Pine Sales Team. With the addition of Kari Ann and Larry, we will increase our ability to better serve all our customers.
